I am glad to inform that the Central Silk Board had launched one of the flagship schemes of Ministry of Textiles, Govt. of India, viz., Integrated Skill Development Scheme (ISDS) on 5th August'2010. The ISDS is meant for capacity building of Institutions providing Skill Development and Training of various sectors of Textiles Industry.

Under the scheme, the SSTL has proposed two training programmes:-

1. Silkworm Seed Production Techniques & Grainage Management - 15 days
2. Silkworm seed crop rearing - 30 days

#	Name of the training	From - To	Intake of candidates per batch	Beneficiaries
1	Silkworm Seed Production Techniques & Grainage Management	23.01.2012 to 06.02.2012	20	1. Silkworm seed producers or persons already working in grainages 2. Persons who intent to take up seed production as profession after the training 3. School dropout attaining the age of 14 and above 4. Un-employed youth attaining the age of 14 and above 5. Persons from Sericulture families
2	Silkworm seed crop rearing	27.02.2012 to 27.03.2012	20	1. Un-employed youths (14 years & above)

In this regard, I request you to kindly identify and sponsor 20 candidates for each training programme well in advance. The panel of sponsored candidates will be maintained at this institute and the list of selected candidates will be intimated for attending training. The programme wise benefits available/extending for the beneficiaries who likely undergo training is enclosed herewith in Annexure I & II, respectively.

This is for your kind information and needful.

Yours faithfully,
Ravindra Singh
